Announcements

Alright, who took a little more time this morning to look professional? Today is "Dress for Success" day and in order to think like a professional, it really helps to look professional. It's all about having a winning mindset and a look for success to go with that determination. Tomorrow is our last spirit day and it is "College Day". Wear any college, technical or armed forces attire. All of these are great pathways to obtaining a higher level education that will help you to soar to new heights.

Attention Seniors Applying To Four Year College: Do you have questions about your Cal State, U.C. or Private College Application? If so, you can go to Ms. Villegas' office in the Counseling Office on Tuesdays and Thursdays during Lunch so she can assist you.

Attention Sophomore Students: Do you have a strong interest in leadership, making a difference and helping others? They are looking for a S.V.H.S. sophomore who wants to develop and utilize their leadership skills. If chosen, you will attend their summer state leadership conference for FREE!
